Books—how our lives have been changed by them! We'll never forget the ones we had to read for Humanities, and found to be interesting! The ones that are so heavily underscored in red, the covers well-worn with use. The dusty ones that we discovered in a hidden corner of a library shelf and took to our hearts as old friends. For this Quittie—our own book of memories—we follow the familiar, but ever-new path where we are led by the books of the centuries.

dedication

The class of 1957 respectfully dedicates this, its Yearbook, to Helen Ethel Myers, Lebanon Valley '07, since 1921 Librarian of Lebanon Valley College. Under her leadership the library has truly become the heart of the college. Her wise choice of books, her interest in her profession, and her awareness of the students as individuals, have left an indelible impression upon the institution. The Class of 1957, the student body, and the alumni who have received the benefits of her devoted service, wish her all happiness in her approaching retirement.

"Lebanon Valley, Lebanon Valley, fight against the foe!" The strains of our fight song are heard at every home football game as the Marching Band, attired in their blue and white uniforms, high-step onto the field before the game. At half-time, the band gives an excellent performance, always concluding with the traditional "L" formation.

Preceding the band onto the football field were our five color guards, led by Sally Miller, sergeant-at-arms. The majorettes also added to the before-game and half-time spirit by their fancy twirling. They were headed this year by Rita Spencer, with Robie Laumen as solo twirler.

The Concert Band, formed mainly from the marching band, begins its rehearsals after football season is over. The band in the past two years, under the direction of Dr. James Thurmond, has proved itself capable of producing a fine sound and of playing high quality band literature.

Mr. William Fairlamb, professor of piano, was the soloist with the band this year, giving an outstanding rendition of Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue." Among other numbers the band played "Celebration Overture" by Paul Creston, "Penny-Whistle Song" by Leroy Anderson featuring the flute section, and "Overture for Band" by Mendelssohn.

As well as giving a concert on campus and providing the music for May Day, the band gave its annual spring concert at the Forum in Harrisburg and a concert in Ephrata.

girls' band

This group, composed of forty-five girls, performs commendably without the assistance of the male members of the Conservatory. Under the direction of Dr. James Thurmond, they gain experience on their instruments and also have the fun of playing in an ensemble. Many of the girls are also in the Concert Band.

This year's concert was held in Engle Hall March 13. The program was highlighted by a cornet trio composed of Gloria Ritter, Helen Sauder, and Jane Hoffman playing "Bolero" by Walter E. Smith. Some of the other numbers played were "Ballet Egyptien;" "Side Show," a humorous number; "Brazil" featuring Latin American rhythms; and "Chorale: St. Antoni" by Haydn-Brahms.

In addition to the larger musical organizations here at the Valley, there are several small ensemble groups. These groups have the pleasure of playing lesser known and performed but very worthwhile and beautiful music.

The clarinet quintet is made up of three types of clarinets—three B-Flats and an alto and bass. The ensemble performed in two recitals this year, playing pieces both written and arranged for this instrumentation. This year each member of the group has done some of this type of arranging. Several other Conservatory students have also made arrangements for the group.

The smallest of the ensembles is the string quartet under the direction of Professor Thomas Lanese. This year the group has played on television for the "College of the Air" program and has provided music for several organizations in this area.

The woodwind quintet, which is steadily growing in importance as en ensemble, is composed of flute, oboe, clarinet, bassoon, and French horn. The Lebanon Valley quintet was reorganized just this year; they have played several selections in recitals. This ensemble, as is the clarinet quintet, is under the direction of Professor Frank Stachow.

Thirty-twa students are in the brass ensemble, which is led by Dr. James Thurmond. The ensemble includes a large number of brass instruments, assisted by a percussion section. They played several special numbers in the band concerts.

Brass Ensemble: Director: Dr. James Thurmond; Carnets: R. Bawman, J. Checket, K. Fegan, J. Hoffman, D. Kurr, S. Poet, G. Ritter, H. Sauder, J. Smith, J. Stearns, H. Webber; French Horns: J. Yorty; Percussion: P. Kaltreider, L. Shirey, D. Tobbias.

symphony orchestra

The Symphony Orchestra has maintained and improved its high standard this year under the leadership of Professor Thomas Lanese. The group is composed of the best instrumentalists from both the College and the Conservatory.

A large audience attended the December 5 concert and was well repaid by an outstanding program. Ronald Steele, the soloist, performed the first movement of Mendelssohn's Violin Concerto in E Minor in masterly style. The remainder of the program is as follows: Overture to Egmont by Beethoven, three "Dances" from Henry VIII Suite by Edward German, first movement of the Symphony in D Minor by Cesar Franck, and "Rumanian Rhapsody" by Georges Enesco.

HAZEL DAVIS

The culmination of many months of hard work and study is seen in performances on the stage of Engle Hall. The recitals which have been given this year—campus, public, full, and faculty—have been outstanding. Attendance at these recitals is an excellent way to imprave one's technique as well as to broaden one's knowledge of music of masters. Pictured on this page is a group representative of those who have given half or full recitals this year.

An innovation this year was the Woodwind Festival. This program, presented with the assistance of the Symphony Orchestra, featured solo numbers by Harold Weitzel, clarinet; Thomas Silliman, oboe; Renato Perez, bassoon; Dorothy Grabau, flute; Louise Loeper, flute; and Patricia Lutz, saxophone.

fizzle follies

This is one time when the Conservatory students take over and "show their stuff." This year, under the capable direction of Jack Goodman, they did themselves proud by producing the biggest and best Fizzle Follies ever. The purpose of this annual affair is to help meet the expenses of the Conserv Formal. The performance was given twice with an overflow crowd on the second night.

The navy theme was carried out in song and dance through seven scenes. Much of the music was arranged especially for the show by Pius Kaltreider and William Trostle, and the choreography was done by Bruce Thompson.

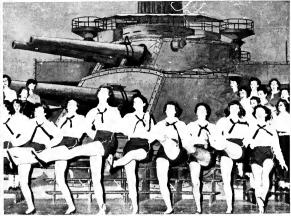

Left: "The Last Time I Saw Paris"—Patricia Lutz. Center: "Basin Street Blues"— Daris Kane, Danald Griffith, and Jeanne Winter. Right: "Mandy"—Sally Miller and Danald Hole.

"Can Can (Orpheus)"—"the girls"

"A Salute ta Miss Liberty"—the entire cast

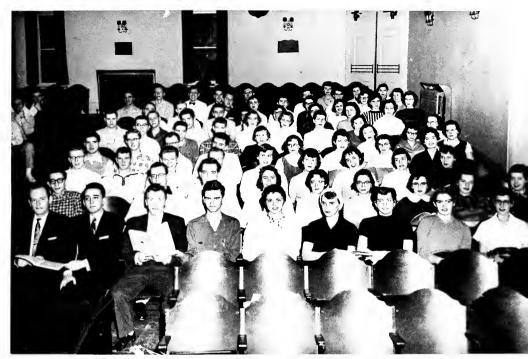

chorus

Over one hundred sixty voices, including all the Conservatory and a few College students, comprise the College Chorus. The group, led by Mr. Reynaldo Rovers and accompanied by Joyce Snyder, becomes acquainted with the best in sacred choral literature, presenting a cantata for the annual community Christmas program and an oratorio in the spring Music Festival. This organization is open to anyone who enjoys singing and is interested in this type of musical performance.

This year the Chorus sang The Story of Christmas by H. Alexander Matthews, with Doris Kane, Sally Miller, Mary Swope, Cynthia Patton, Anna Lou Fisher, Donald Griffith, Bernard Rightmyer, Luke Grubb, Tatsuo Hoshina, and Charles Brightbill as soloists. The oratorio Stabat Mater by Antonin Dvorak featured two New York soloists, Walter Fredrick, tenor, and Chester Watson, baritone, and several Canservatory students: Sally Miller, soprano; Anna Lou Fisher, alto; Tatsuo Hoshina, tenor; and Bernard Rightmyer, baritone.

glee club

These carefully chosen singers under the direction of Dr. James Thurmand comprise one of the hardest working organizations on campus. Much intensive practice goes into making their annual tour a success. This year the forty-member group, accompanied by a fourteen-piece orchestra, toured the southern part of Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, and the District of Calumbia. The tour program, which was also presented on campus, included music ranging from the sixteenth century to Victor Herbert favorites, all rendered in professional style.

The Glee Club also gave a two-evening performance of the threeact opera "The Bartered Bride" by Bedrich Smetana in conjunction with part of the symphony orchestra far the annual Music Festival. The leads were Charlotte Pierson as the bartered bride and Tatsuo Hashina as her lover Jenik.

student faculty council

The Student Faculty Council is the organization which serves as a connecting link between the faculty and the student body of Lebanon Volley College. The policy of the Council has been to inaugurate more all-campus affairs and to stimulate intercollegiate activity. Every spring the Student Faculty Council plans the social calendar for the coming year.

The council is composed of one representative from each recognized student organization and members of the faculty.

The council is not yet perfected; it is hoped that future years will see it so. Because of the council there is now a closer understanding between students and the administration.

women's commuter council

men's day student congress

Women's Commuter Council, which is the governing body of the women day students, has the duty of helping to integrate the girls into the campus activities as well as enforcing the rules set for them.

Under their president, Mrs. Jacqueline DeBenedett, the group has been given more opportunities for campus life. In the beginning of the year, W.C.C., together with Jiggerboard, held a program for the freshmen girls. They also sponsor the W.C.C.-Jiggerboard Bonquet in the spring.

The men day students sponsored with the women a movie, a Christmas dinner at the Annville American Legion, and the traditional Valentine Dance. These activities were among the outstanding events on the social calendar.

J. Allen, J. Bayer, J. Hauston, L. Savastia, P. Hattenstein, L. Bennetch, D. Farling, E. Billingham, E. Hitz, T. Cormany.

The Men's Day Student Congress is the governing body of the Association of Men Day Students. The purpose of the Congress is to promote cooperation and harmony among the male day students.

A large part of the activities of the Congress are the disciplinary actions taken during the indoctrinary period for Freshmen. Such actions are more difficult to enforce among the day students than among the dormitory students because of the looser ties among men of the association.

men's senate

The Men's Senote, the governing body of the men's dormitories, during the year followed the competent leadership of President Clair Kelly, and strove to solve the many complexing problems of resident students. Along with tackling some of these difficulties, the Senate provided many hours of amusing entertainment and much-needed recreation.

This has been the second year in which student proctors have been used when Deon Keller is absent from the dorm. No Senatorial job could be accomplished without the full cooperation of the men in the dormitory, and this spirit of unity reached a new high this year.

Jiggerboard is the Resident Women's Student Government Association. This group of conscientious girls works for the betterment of regulations and rules, and the enforcement of those already accepted. The group meets every Monday evening in North Hall parlor and functions with a strong arm of justice.

Together with the WCC, they held the fun-filled Gander Weekend in October, when the girls ask the boys for dates. On December 14, the Jiggerboard and Senate sponsored the Christmas Dinner-Dance, with guest speakers Dr. Howard Neidig and Dr. Carl Erhart.

The work of the staff and the editor of this year's Quittie has been one of cooperation and dependability on the part of each who realized the importance of this project. Ruth Sheetz, as editor-in-chief, has, with the help of her coworkers, given us a yearbook of high quality. Business Manager William Kiick, with a combination of fortitude and a cooperative crew of ad-seekers, made the yearbook financially possible.

The staff members will long remember the late night sessions, the disappointments, the friendly contacts with photographer and publisher, and finally the finished product, the 1957 Quittapahilla.

La Vie Collegienne carries out its stated aims of entertaining and informing the Valley student body, and of providing its selected staff with practical training in management and writing.

La Vie depicts just what its name implies—college life, as seen through the eyes of the several student representatives who contribute to the publication. In addition to its primary aims, it provides an excellent opportunity for a thorough journalistic experience for those planning to enter any kind of literary profession.

This year's staff has contributed much to the development of a high standard of campus journalism. Many innovations will remain permanent parts of the policy of the Lebanon Valley College newspaper.

green blotter club

Green Blotter Club is the campus literary organization for aspiring playwrights, poets, novelists, essayists, journalists, and other members of the literary world. Each year four members are chosen from the freshmen class. Membership is chosen on a selective basis, with club members voting on the manuscripts submitted by potential members.

It is becoming a Lebanon Valley tradition for the Green Blotter Club to write the script for the annual May Day program. This year's program was written under the leadership of club adviser Mr. Samuel Bradley and Head Scop Richard Shover.

wig and buckle

Officers: R. Perez, Publicity Manager; C. Pierson, President; C. Rebok, Treasurer; M. Beaver, Secretary.

The Wig and Buckle Club, the campus dramatics organization, pravides participating students with experience in all phases of drama including acting, lighting, staging, and directing. Several successful and interesting productions were completed by the organization which is under the capable leadership of Miss Charlotte Pierson, President.

This past year the Wig and Buckle produced Antigone as one of their outstanding plays. The thespians also gave a play on Scholarship weekend. Many will remember the fine production of Gammer Gurton's Needle held early in the fall on Parents' Weekend.

student christian association

This organization includes all full-time students of Lebanon Valley College. All students are urged to support and to actively participate in the functions of this religious group. The activities of this association begin immediately with Freshman Week in September and are concluded with the May Day Pageant in the Spring.

A dramatic Christmas Cantota and an Easter Cantata were given by the SCA Choir under the direction of Cyrus Dietrich. Both of these productions were extremely successful. Under the capable leadership of Richard Leonard, president, and Dr. Sparks and Dr. Ehrhart, the SCA also sponsored a Christmas Carol hike and an all-campus spiritual retreat at Camp Swatara. Active participation in the planning of Religious Week and in the execution of the May Day program were other functions of this group.

To provide for a Coordinated program of religious and social activities, and to advance the welfare and common interests of the students and of the college are the aims of the Student Christian Association.

Membership in this organization is open to those students who are preparing themselves for the Christian ministry, missionary work, and other church vocations. Also included in this group are associate members who are interested in the organization and its activities.

The year is inaugurated by a Consecration service held in the College Church. After worshipping together, members partake of the Sacrament of Holy Communion.

The main activity of the organization is its Deputation work. Through this endeavor, members serve as preachers, Sunday school teachers, song leaders, and soloists almost every week in various churches. This experience is truly advantageous for all those who participate.

The George D. Gossard Chapter of the Future Teachers of America of Lebanon Valley College has completed its fifth year as a member of the college activities program. This group, which is dedicated to the advancement of the teaching profession, has in this last year created a program of meetings which are used to be a direct aid in teaching. Most outstanding were the F.T.A. Day and the club program of seeing a teacher in a classroom situation. The club continues under the able student leaders and the adviser, Dr. Gilbert McKlveen.

Officers: D. Glick, Vice President; S. Hofing, ICG Chairman; N. Blantz, Treasurer; G. Gorbey, Secretary; C. Zettlemayer, President; O. Walpert, Sergeant-at-Arms.

political science club

Participation in the Intercollegiate Conference on Government, held each Spring and attended by similarly interested groups from the campuses of the Colleges of Pennsylvania, is the high spot of the club's activities and the driving force behind its meetings. The club trains members in parliamentary procedure and in preparing committee work for the functioning committees of the conference itself.

In addition to the ICG preparations and the usual campus activities, the club enjoys numerous social meetings and banquets throughout the year, featuring prominent speakers on current affairs; and sells basketball programs at the Lebanon Valley home games.

pi gamma mu

Pi Gamma Mu is a national social science honorary society. Membership is open to those students who have displayed special ability in the social studies field. Meetings are held monthly and are sponsored by one of the four departments of the social studies division: economics, history, sociology, and political science. Through this organization, members obtain a better understanding of society and its many aspects.

The high point of the year's activities was the annual banquet held March second in the Palmyra American Legion Home. This year's banquet was of special significance since the National President of Pi Gamma Mu, Dr. Leon Godshall, was the speaker.

chemistry club

The Chemistry Club, which is a branch of the Lebanon Valley Chapter of the Student Affiliates of the American Chemical Society, is composed of students majoring in chemistry or those who display a special interest in the chemical field. Meetings are held monthly, at which time lectures are delivered. Activities include several field trips to industrial plants and governmental laboratories, and publication of the bi-monthly "Filtrates and Residues." Chemistry hand books and lab aprons are sold by the members.

The year's activities were climoxed by a dinner dance at the Palmyra Legion.

The Alpha Zeta Chapter of Beta Beta Beta National Biological Society is open to those students who have completed a minimum of ten semester hours in the biological field and who maintain a B average.

The outstanding activity of the club was the Tri-Beta Weekend held November 11 and 12. Highlights of the weekend were a private dinner-dance and an all-college dance. The club also labeled the trees on the campus in the Spring.

The aim of Tri-Beta is to stimulate interest in the biological field among both its members and non-member students.

french club

This year the French Club has increased its membership and has been able to acquire a new advisor, Miss Ruth Butler. The club is for all people who are interested in studying French and in learning to speak the language fluently. All meetings are conducted entirely in French.

During the first semester the club took a trip to New York City to see La Comedie Francaise, Le Jeu de L'amour et du Hazard, by Beaumarchais, which proved to be very successful. Their second semester activities included a movie and a talk by Mrs. Lanese on education in France.

childhood education club

During the past year, the elementary teaching students have formed and activated a club which they call the Childhood Education Club. Under the able advising of Dr. Cloyd Ebersole and the cooperation of the new officers, this club has become not only active, but also extremely helpful to instruct its members. Observing an elementary school, hearing teachers' experiences, and holding a party for the children's home were some of their varied programs. With a successful first year, the club is looking forward to a long life among the campus organizations.

One of the most active groups on campus is the Cheerleaders. These Valleyites are present at every faotball and basketball game to help cheer the boys on to a good game. In the fall at foatball games they are assisted by the Lebanon Valley Marching Band and in the winter at basketball games by the German Band. This year the cheerleaders had a unique and very prafitable booth at County Fair, which included a horse and buggy ride around Annville through the snow.

Thanks are extended to the cheerleaders for their service to their school and classmates.

knights of the valley

The Knights of the Valley, serving this year under President Lynn Sparks, have furthered their purpose of promoting fellowship and good will. In this, their sixth year of organization, the Knights have proven their worth by their contribution to all campus activities and the promotion of a better college spirit. During the year many social activities were held, which not only served as entertainment for the members, but also afforded an opportunity for the advancement of fellowship. The Knights participated in the intramural sports pragram and are the defending basketball champions from 1954-55 and volleyball champions from 1955-56. Through the sale of Christmas cards, funds were raised for the annual dinner-dance which climaxes the year's activities. This was the first year in which the Knights awarded an annual scholarship. The Chuck Maton Memorial Award recipient for 1955 was Howard V. Landa.

Philo, older brother of the Valley societies, show unmistakable signs of rebirth of vigor as it celebrates its eighty-ninth year. This fraternal organization has realized the value of friendship, good-will, and cooperation, and has fostered the standards of true comradeship which are indispensable for a well-rounded life. Through such agencies as joint sessions, meetings, and smokers for freshman, true comradship has been nurtured. Philo has participated in the intramural sports programs of volleyball, football, basketball, and baseball. Their rushing season was very successful, resulting in an active and growing membership. Philo, along with their sister-society Clio, sponsor an annual play and dinner-dance held in April.

kappa lambda nu

The sister organization to Phi Lambda Sigma is Kappa Lambda Nu, or Clio. This group of girls, under the presidency of Diane Kohr, conducts its meetings every month in the Clio-Philo room.

Opening the year's activities were the rush week programs. With a theme of "Stinkers", the Clio girls held for the initiates a tea and an open house. Following the pledging and informal initiation were the formal initiation and the intersociety dance. Clio, together with Philo, held their traditional Halloween Dance, which is always a favorite with the students. Rounding out their many activities, Clio held a Valentine's Day party for the Lebanon County Home for the aged and St. Patrick's Day Dance. On April thirteenth and fourteenth, Philo-Clio held their Dinner-Dance to complete their year's activities.

Kalo is the younger of the two original men's societies. Because of its activities it now refers to itself as the "progressive organization on campus." Its activities include smokers designed to create a deep bond of friendship between the pledges and the older members. Kalo has been very active in intramural sports, participating in volleyboll, football, basketball, and baseball. They have joined with Delphian, their sister society, in bringing cheer to the Janestown Orphanage before each Christmas. This year the K-D weekend started off with the joint production of Harvey by Kalo-Delphian dromatists, and was climaxed by their annual dinner-dance held at the Reading Country Club. A stag banquet is held at the conclusion of the year in honor of those members who are leaving the club.

Delta Lambda Sigma, better known as Delphian, is the younger of the social organizations for women. A group of girls, a room, and a leader, are the three essential parts of this organization. The President, Miss Shirley Heizmann; the group, some seventy girls, and the room, Delphian Hall, is the combination with which the club progressed this year.

In addition to their regular monthly meetings, they hold the annual rush week and initiation. During this time there was held a tea and an open house. The year-round project is that of befriending a church home for children. Together with the Kalo men, the girls gave a Christmas party for the home. This year the K-D weekend started off with the joint production of Harvey by Kalo-Delphian dramatists, and was climaxed by their annual dinner-dance held at the Reading Country Club.

During the last two years the Legiannaires have risen to become one af the leading organizations on campus. The membership of this group consists of veterans of the United States Armed Forces. These men, working together for the club and the college, have not only helped to create a better feeling among the students, but also provided many activities to swell the college calendar.

Opening the list of the big dances of the year was the Vets' September dance. They also sponsored five dances after the home Saturday night basketball games. The football game and basketball game with the girls' hockey and basketball teams, which always create school spirit, will long be remembered. In order that they may find fellowship, the Legionnaires hold two dinners in the course of the year, for members only.

"L" club

The "L" Club is composed of athletes who have received their letters from the Director of Athletics for participation in one or more of the varsity sports. In order to be eligible for membership, a sports participant must meet the requirements set up by the Athletic Council for a varsity letter award.

The club sells football programs, and this year inaugurated "tag day," in order to raise money for their jackets. They sponsor the Homecoming Dance each fall, one of the most popular of the informal dances held at Lebanon Valley.

women's athletic association

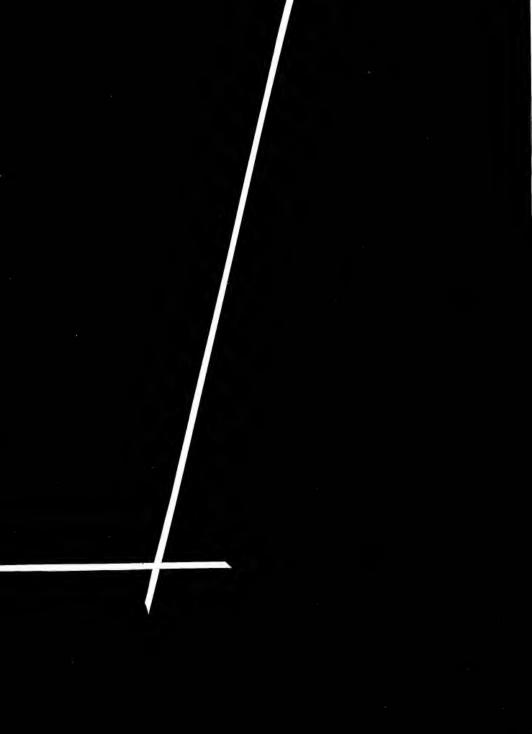

All intramural sports and intercallegiate sports an campus are conducted and guided through the Wamen's Athletic Association. After the girls have participated in a required number of sports and have the amount of points necessary for awards, the club has an annual banquet, at which time they present the chenille "L", gold "L", and blazer jackets.

Once again this year they held their famous veterans'-girls' football game, and veterans' and boys' varsity basketball games with the girls. The club has ather activities such as hikes and a square dance, which are very popular with the girls.

"On the fields of triendly strife Are sown the seeds, Which in future years On different fields Will bear the fruits of victory."

GRANTLAND RICE

The Lebanon Valley football depression which set in in full force after Lou Sorrentino's departure two seasons ago continued to dominate the Flying Dutchmen gridiron scene during the 1955 season. Any attempts at pump-priming or hopes of more prosperous Saturday afternoons in the future seem to have trickled away.

Despite a returning group of veterans including Dale Shellenberger, Bob Palmer, Tom Quinn, Gene Geesey, "Red" Grochowski, and Glenn Thomas Coach Ellis Mc-Cracken's team fell back into the groans of inertness after a spirited season start.

Lead by freshman quarterback Bill DeLiberty and Gene Geesey, LVC manufactured a late third period drive which resulted in a fourth quarter TD to tie Millersville STC at Middletown in the Bi-Centennial Bowl. John Ollinger's x-tra point try was slightly wide.

LV poured on the end zone in its 41-6 drubbing of Wilkes in the home opener as Shellenberger and Thomas scared to give LV an early lead. Leo Savastio and John Ollinger countered in the first half while Bosacco and Shelley added bonus TD's in the second half.

Valley hopes ran into a Pennsylvania Military College cyclone, however, the next week in the Bologna Bowl game. Power and speed churned LVC 33-0 as the Cadets registered their tenth straight win. The next week Muhlenberg came close to duplicating the score by handing the Valley its second loss, this one 32-0.

Playing before Coach McCracken's old home town fans in the Leechburg Lions-Rotary Bowl, LV was swamped by St. Vincent's mudders. The Dutchmen scored twice in the 52-14 rout with DeLiberty passing to Thomas for ane and Dale Shellenberger scoring the other.

Against Albright in LVC's Parents' Day game, Lebanon Valley lost 27-12. Gene Geesey scored both TD's . . . one a 97 yard gallop.

LV went into the locker room at half time against Ursinus on the short end of the score. A memorable, straight-to-the-paint, stirring, fighting, inspiring talk by co-captain Dale Shellenberger brought a fighting Valley team back onto the field. In seven minutes time they had scored three touchdowns and went on to win their second game of the season by a 26-21 count.

At Willamsport against Lycoming Ross Plasterer took a fumble in the air and lateraled to Clair Paul who went over for LV's only score in the 25-7 lass which ended the Flying Dutchmen season.

Lebanon Valley College: Won 13

Lost 8

To the victory-drugged LVC campus the 1955-1956 basketball season was "so-half." The thirteen wins and eight losses were a little distant from the past winning numbers of nineteen and twenty-three. And yet the season was not a disappointing one; the wins added to Coach Marquette's LV record in four seasons to seventy-four wins against only twenty-two losses.

Two outstanding accomplishments for the Flying Dutchmen also contributed to making this a "good" year. The brightest spot was safeguarding the consecutive home-court victory streak. Eleven of the LV victories were on the hard Lynch Memorial hardwoods and ended the year with forty-one straight home triumphs. Several opponents were pointing at this streak and a few came "too-close" to upsetting it. West Chester and Moravian must be given credit for coming the closest while Elizabethtown and Albright provided anxious moments.

The other high point of the year was the Valley's "scare" against nationally ranked, NCAA representative Temple University. As background for this contest LV had defeated Temple twice in the past two years on the Lynch floor, both times in overtime games, while the highly-regarded Owls had beaten LV once in Philadelphia. This year's contest was scheduled for the Temple home court at South Hall. Two days before the meeting LV was routed by Albright 99-70.

In their best team-effort of the season the Valley jumped to an early lead, lost it to Temple's fast break just before the half, gave more ground at the start of the second half and then picked up steam to close with a rush and force the Owls into a Rodgers freeze and a scant 72-68 victory. A few different plays here and there and the outcome could have been . . .

Throughout the court season the Valley presented an unsteady alignment of players. Shortly after the Christmas holidays the "bench" was hard hit by what Bob Keller, the WLBR sports announcer, so aptly described as the "battle of the books." Big Bob "Buck" Bowman, Larry Mentzer, Ken Schuler, and Bill Wenrich, all first-line reserves, became ineligible for the latter half of play. Four freshmen were rushed into their positions to give the "bench" strength. That these players handled themselves in good style and did not provide merely "bulk" can be attested by their fine showing against Albright when they along with Pete McEvoy saved LVC from a humbling rout.

Gerry Steger and Jack Peepe finished their playing time for Lebanon Valley and will be missed next year when the Dutchmen take to the floor. While this was hoped to be "THE year" there is still sufficient potential returning next season to realize one of the Valley's greatest cage teams. They have no greater foe than themselves on the schedule.

Bill Kristich, Aubrey Kershner, Scott Dimon, and Bernie Buzgon formed the root-core of Coaches Mayhoffer and McCracken's frosh-filled squad. Jim Daugherty and Jim Tyson were added to the semester-depleted crew and turned in valuable service.

The boys who really put out a night's work were Bill DeLiberty, lloyd Smith, and Ted Pounds who alternated along with Kristich and his boys throughout the preliminary tilt and then suited up for the varsity game.

The experience and the "time-on-the-floor" so important to maturing athletes will certainly stand these hustlers in good stead next year. Lebanon Valley may be brewing another quintet of ball-hawking, hard-charging, basketball players in this crew of earnest JV's who did so well for LV this past season.

"RINSO" MARQUETTE

lebanon valley baseball team

"Whoever wants to know the heart and mind of America had better learn baseball . . .

"The wonderful purging of the passions that we all experience in baseball gives us some idea of what Greek tragedy was like. Baseball is Greek in being national, heroic, and broken up in the rivalries of city-states.

"That baseball fitly expresses the powers of the nation's mind and body is a merit separate from the glory of being the most active, agile, articulate and brainy of all group games. It is of and for our century.

"I said Baseball was Greek. Is there not a poetic symbol in the new meaning—our meaning—of 'Ruth hits Homer?'

"Accuracy and speed, the practiced eye and hefty arm, the mind to take in and readjust to the unexpected, the possession of more than one talent and the willingness to work in harness without special orders—these are the American virtues that shine in baseball."

JACQUES BARZUN, God's Country and Mine

"There was ease in Casey's manner
As he stepped into his place;
There was pride in Casey's bearing,
And a smile on Casey's face.
And when, responding to the cheers,
He lightly doffed his hat,
No stranger in the crowd could doubt
'Twas Casey at the bat."

News Item: the great Australian

John Landy halds the world's recard far the mile. Three times he has braken the faur-minute barrier his best time being 3 minutes 58 seconds. He has all along asserted that he could run it in 3.55 ar 3.56.

In the Olympic tryauts at Australia this winter, Landy decided to make his supreme effort. He wanted to represent Australia in the Olympics and he wanted to run a record-shattering mile.

A friend of his was his pacer. For nearly threequarters of the race Landy was running in better time than his recard, then his pacer, his friend, fell ta the track in front of Landy.

Landy hurdled the body . . . THEN stopped, went back to his friend and helped him aff the track, The action took about 5 or 6 seconds, several runners had passed him . . . Landy cantinued the race and won it in 4.04,

Co-Captains Elect

This spring Lebanon Valley will be heading into its third year of track competition since that sport was reactivated after a few years lapse. The past two seasons have seen the LVC runners fighting against overwhelming odds in all of its meets. Prospects for this year do not appear any brighter from a winning standpoint.

Ken Schuler and Jerry Steger, co-captains, along with freshman point gatherer Aubrey Kershner will head a small but valiant band of Dutchmen through a difficult track schedule. Track talent has been scarce around the Valley in all departments: running, weights, coaching.

At this writing there is no definite word on this year's coach. "Spide" Spangler possibly will rise to the occasion and fill in this important post. In the participating line it is too much to expect that LVC will suddenly come up with enough experienced trackmen to give the college an outstanding representative.

While depth must be written-off at once, it is hoped that enough freshmen will report this spring to at least give Schuler, Steger, and Kershner some front line aid. The important thing is to keep the blue-and-white colors in the race, not necessarily to always win the race.

Lebanon Valley's 1956 diamond niners hope to get out of the rough this season and shine their hidden brilliance over a successful baseball year for Coach George Marquette. For the past two years great things have been expected of the LVC squad but both years they just managed to squeak through with winning records. 1954's 6-5 total was followed by last year's 7-6 record.

This year looked to be THE year. It is still hoped to be the BIG YEAR for LVC baseball, but the doubtful availability of clutch pitcher Bill Wenrich and steady infielder Larry Mentzer may be blows too serious for LV to overcome.

With the loss of Wenrich as Coach Marquette's "stopper", LVC may become a team cursed with good hit, good field, no pitch. From last year's pitching crew Kosier has graduated, Stanfield transferred, Wenrich lost, and co-captain infelder-pitcher Glenn Thomas underwent an appendectomy early in the year.

Glenn probably will be able to retain his teamleading hitting form but chances are he will not be able to take a turn on the mound.

The Flying Dutchmen will have a real job on their hands this spring but "Rinso" can be counted on to come up with some game-winning solution.

varsity hockey

The hockey team closed its 1955 season with a record of two wins and four losses. Cocaptained by Irene Urian and Sandra Nelson, the team showed fighting spirit, but not quite enough to delete the loss column. The addition of two freshmen, Marian Brooks and Veronica Evans; and a transfer student, Nancy Lee Kettle; gave new vigor to the veterans of previous years—Joanne Young, Fern Liskey, Barbara Johnson, Arlene Reynolds, Dorothy Book, Sandra Weit, Barbara Klinger, and the co-captains. The team had able substitutes in Katherine Dotts, Shirley Heizmann, Ruthanne Kelchner, Estelle Berger, and Elaine Goodyear. Also notable this year was the addition of a cheering section for the home games. To be sure, the rooters were not disappointed with such games as Albright and Moravian!

Miss Bowman's "psychological safety pins" were collected by Marian Brooks, with seven goals for the season; Sandy Nelson, with four; and Fern Liskey, with one. With only two of the starting line-up graduating in June, the prospects for next year are looking up. If the spirit is high, you can be sure the girls will be in there fighting!

The article wouldn't be complete without a special tribute to the capable managers—Grace Gorbey, Ruth Sheetz, and Elizabeth Ritter. Mention must be made of Don Reinhard also, who missed his Saturday morning sleep many times to line the field.

The Girls' Varsity Basketball Team started its season February 4 under the coaching of Miss Betty Jane Bowman. With several members of last year's team returning and many good candidates to fill in the vacancies, it seemed that L.V. would have a successful season. However, the end of the season showed a record of one win and six losses. Although the team lost, they did not become discouraged, but tried harder with each game. Probably the game which he Dutchwomen will remember best is the game that they lost to Albright by one point.

Naomi Sprenkle, forward, and Jeanne Winter, forward, were the co-captains of the team. Also in the forward spot were Phyllis Dasher and Marie Sponsler, an able freshman who was the high scorer of the team, averaging eighteen points per game. Naomi Sprenkle aided the scoring column by averaging almost fifteen points per game. In guard position were Rachel Meyers, center; Arlene Reynolds, right; and Peggy Barbour, another newcomer to the team this year, at left. Jeanne Winter and JoAnne Young also helped at times in the guard position.

We must not forget our able managers who helped and gave their services to the team. They were Dorothy Book and Ruth Sheetz.

Although the record is not too impressive, the girls enjoyed playing together and came through with some fine play. Since they will be losing only two players this year, we are looking forward to seeing next year's team come through with many victories.

junior varsity basketball

The Junior Varsity Team had a successful season with four wins and three losses. The team was composed mostly of freshmen, and showed great capabilities for the coming seasons. The forwards were Marian Brooks, Ruth Howell, Doris White, and Mary Beaver. The season's high scorer was Marian Brooks with 11.7 points per game. Filling in the guard positions were Veronica Evans, Louise Gay, Joanne Young, and Elaine Goodyear.

The most exciting game of the season was the second game with Millersville, played on the M.S.T.C. floor. The score was tied 30-30 with only a few seconds to go when a foul was committed by a Millersville player. Mary Beaver made the shot at the foul line. Time ran out while Valley still had possession of the ball, and the Dutchwomen won the game 31-30.

girls' hockey team The turned "pigskin crazy" in a post season football game with the Vets. Better all-around field play and good physical condition of the "shin-guard" girls proved too much for the inexperienced Veterans. Although the Vets had the Jack Sproul-John Murphy pass combination, the girls came through with several Young-Kettle TD passes. Rough play was called when Elaine Goodyear tried to tackle Drew Fetterolf and suffered a slight brain concussion -she played an improved game after that! Whotever the scare, (no one ever found out) a good time was had by all.

Again the Vets wanted to try their skill, this time against the girls' varsity basketball team. The students of the Valley witnessed the most colorful and exciting game of the season. Many a laugh was had when the Vets came onto the floor wearing various styles of costumes; who could forget Willie Lutz and his Napoleon outfit, and 'Pee Wee" Fetterolf and his sombrero! The boys were handicapped in so far as they played girls' rules. However, the girls had to compensate for the speed and crazy antics of their opponents. The score was close throughout the game, and it ended in a tie. In the overtime period, everyone joined in and played boys' rules. The girls were the victors, winning by one point, 31-30. The girls had overpowered the Vets again!

the development program

A snow storm doesn't horm the enthusiasm of school officials at ground breaking ceremonies for the new girls' dormitory.

Future residents inspect progress on the new darm.

This year marks the beginning of visible evidence of the Lebanon Valley College development program. For many years, trustees, administration, alumni, students, and friends of the college have realized the need for new, modern buildings and equipment to take care of the needs of the ever-expanding student body. For olong time plans have been under consideration to help take care of these needs. The academic year 1955-1956 is an important one in the hitory of LVC, for it is in this year that construction on the new girls' dormitory was begun, a science building was purchased, and ground was broken for the new school library.

LVC's present library, built in 1905, is too small for the expanding student body.

Did Santa leave that?
